

Do you have a dream?

Sarah Corbett shares a crafty project for positive change

1

Let's get dreaming! Hold your two fabric clouds in the palm of your hand. Picture your vision for the future. What do you see?

2

In your best handwriting, write a short message that describes an element of your vision on the cotton cloud.

3

Backstitch over your writing, reflecting on our crafterthought questions as you do so.

Puff up your dream cloud with ethical hemp or shredded paper, or upcycle worn-out fabric as stuffing.

4

Hang your cloud somewhere your message will be relevant and thought-provoking. Share an image of your dream cloud hanging proud somewhere in your local area or at home as a physical reminder to yourself to be a dream-maker.

Include @craftivists so that we can appreciate your great work and share it with other dream-makers.
